

CADI Waiver & Elderly Waiver Fact Sheet

This fact sheet provides a quick overview of the Community Access for Disability Inclusion (CADI) Waiver and the Elderly Waiver (EW) in Minnesota. Both waivers provide services to help individuals live in the community instead of institutional settings, and both require eligibility for Medicaid (Medical Assistance).

Medicaid Requirement

Yes. To qualify for either the CADI Waiver or the Elderly Waiver, a person must be eligible for Medical Assistance (Minnesota's Medicaid program). If someone does not qualify for Medicaid, they are not eligible for these waivers.

CADI Waiver

Community Access for Disability Inclusion (CADI) Waiver

- For people with disabilities under age 65 who would otherwise need to live in a nursing facility or institutional setting.
- Allows individuals to receive services in the community.
- Typical services include: personal care, home modifications, assistive technology, case management, adult day services, and more.
- Intended for those with significant functional limitations who meet a level of care criteria.

Elderly Waiver (EW)

- For people age 65 and older who are eligible for Medicaid and meet nursing home level of care.
- Designed to keep older adults living safely in their home or community instead of entering a nursing home.
- Services include: home-delivered meals, homemaker services, personal care, respite, transportation, home modifications, and more.
- Also provides care coordination.

Summary

Waiver	Age Group	Purpose	Requires Medicaid (Medical Assistance)?
